BARNSTABLE TOWN RECORD

PART B

The contents of Part B in the Barnstable Town Record, Volume 1, present a multitude of topics relating to miscellaneous transactions and activities during the years 1793 through 1885, including rosters of the Barnstable Militia for the years 1840 through 1843. The contents are not presented in chronological order and may well have been transcribed from various sources as reflected by the marginal page citations which point to presently unknown sources. The entries encountered in Part B are distinct from those of Part A in that the grammar and script, as well as the content, reflect the very late 18th and the 19th Centuries.

The generalized Table of Contents is unique to this transcription and does not fully reflect the diversity of the entries encountered in this part of the Record.

PART C

Part C preserves a record of births, marriages and deaths within the Barnstable community to the mid-18th Century. Many of the entries in the archival volume were recorded in a disorganized fashion and their arrangement suggests that they represent a compendium compiled from several sources, most likely church records. There is no indication either of when or by whom the list was compiled, and there is no immediate way of determining either its completeness or its accuracy. Many of the entries now are barely legible and many of the names and dates have been altered by pencil correction or augmented by marginal annotation. Fortunately, Mary Lovell transcribed (c. 1895) this part of the record and her work greatly facilitated the present undertaking. For this presentation, only information provided in the original, archival entry has been transcribed. Spelling and punctuation are as they appear in the archival volume.
